Recent Developments in Easements & Covenants

2pm Monday 25 June 2012
3 hours CPD

For all property lawyers, whether dealing with commercial or residential work, issues involving easements and covenants can be amongst the most challenging of all. These areas of the law can be arcane and complex, yet the law is ever changing and developing. In this course we include a review of the practical and legal implications arising from the following recent developments

- Easements – recent cases dealing with:
 - Extent of grant
 - Problems on sale
 - Interpretation and enforcement
 - Land registration and rectification
- New provisions on adoption of drains
- Covenants – recent cases on
 - Modification
 - Passing the benefit
 - Consent for development
 - Development schemes
- Proposed changes to the law

PRESENTER: Peter Reekie is a property training consultant with Penningtons, and visiting Professor at The College of Law. He writes for publication and lectures extensively at property law events. He is consultant materials editor for the College of Law's Structured Commercial Property Programme and consultant editor of The Conveyancing Handbook.
